MADE FROM WASTE

FOR A CONSCIOUS LIFESTYLE

CONSCIOUS LIVING

The future is green and today we are becoming more conscious of our lifestyle and demanding consumption pattern. If the pandemic offers us one good thing, it would be its unique window to positive change as a result of a huge shift in human behaviour; fewer cars are crashing, crime is falling, skies are cleaner, nature flourishes and there is less pollution. Although it is not possible to calculate the exact effects, it is clear that if we change our behaviour together we can create a positive impact on our planet.

Conscious living is not only about being aware of your lifestyle and your surroundings but choosing to act responsibly. It may show you the path to making decisions based on eco sustainability and ethical concerns.

Conscious living is at the origin of originalhome; we choose to design from nature and minimizing impact on the planet. We choose to reduce, reuse and turn waste into products for a stylish interior. We choose to being friendly to people in need and we choose to work together with small workshops to create more jobs and enable fair pay for people in the remote and rural area's of 3rd world countries.

Turn this page and find out yourself what can be created with a conscious lifestyle in mind. Get inspired by the beauty of organic waste and find out how you can contribute to a more earth & people friendly planet.

Our goal is not money or profit but change. Together with you. Because when we do it together, we can really change the world.

Choose wisely,

Patricia Khour

STORIES

REDUCE, REUSE, RECYCLE

An important part of creating a sustainable future is waste management, often indicated by the 3 R-words; Reduce, Reuse and Recycle. The major part of the originalhome collection is designed around these 3 r's as 65% of our product range is made from (organic) waste material.

WASTE IS BEAUTIFUL

We use a variety of natural and/or recyclable waste material like empty wine bottles and turn them into drinking glasses and vases before they end up as litter in the sea or beach. We use discarded wood from boats, houses, barns and trucks and turn it into benches and tables. Root and branch wood is used for table and kitchenware and we collect waste cotton from spinning mills and other factories to make throws, cushions and liners out of it.

TABLE LINEN FROM RECYCLED GARMENT

New in our assortment is the collection made from left over fabrics from garment manufactures in Bangladesh. These waste fabrics are collected from pre selected factories. They are sorted on colour, cleaned and processed into fibres and yarn without the use of water, chemicals or other dyes. Our weavers from northern Bangladesh weave this yarn into beautiful table cloths, napkins, plaids and aprons by hand.

You recognize the made from waste products by the Waste logo.

STORIES

ORGANIC SHAPES AND MATERIALS

A huge part of conscious living is the love of nature. Nature is at the origin of our brand from our designs to the organic and biodegradable materials we use to the way it is being produced (by hand).

PLANT MATERIAL

Apart from waste materials, we solely work with natural, biodegradable plant materials like unbleached jute, seagrass, waterhyacinth, rattan and banana leaf. These plants are fast growing and some are even considered as waste. They are all processed by hand, locally sourced and sundried. Their colour can vary per season or drying time which gives the products a lively shade.

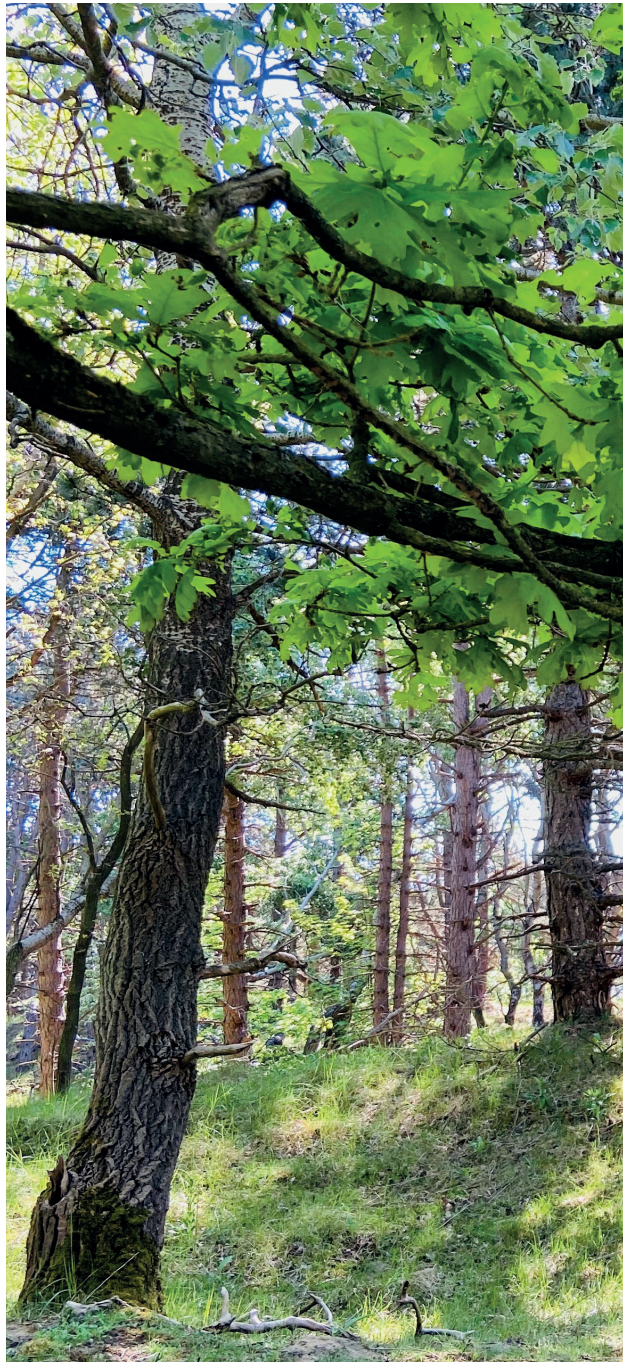

FEELING CALM

Organic shapes produce calmness and nature is full of it. Some even say that there are no straight lines in nature. This is actually why we enjoy wondering around nature, visiting a park, a forest or just staring at the sea. Those are the places where we feel the true psychological impact of organic forms. We feel peaceful, balanced, connected and we feel comfortable in the presence of the subtle flow around us. We sense beauty although we cannot grasp it.

Our designs are shaped accordingly. It is the result of a combination of traditional handcraft and natural materials. We love to preserve the authentic character of the materials in the end product. It makes every item unique.

STORIES

BEING SOCIAL

Conscious living is not only about nature and understanding your impact on your local environment and the planet as a whole. It is also about people. How might it impact people in 3rd World Countries, the poor and the powerless? It is something we often have no knowledge of because it is not always visible. It is important to be aware of how your products are made and by whom.

SUPPORTING SMALL SCALE ENTREPRENEURS

Originalhome works together with small scale entrepreneurs in the remote, rural areas of Bangladesh, Indonesia and Tanzania. We aim to create more job opportunities in these areas to relieve people from poverty and unemployment. We trade according to fair trade principles like

originalhome
100% ECO DESIGN

fair pricing, equality, respect, dialogue, transparency and long term partnership. The majority of our partners are already fair trade certified according to WFTO, BSCI or local certification and we consciously support them to conduct their business accordingly.

AID THROUGH TRADE

The pandemic has caused many people to lose their job in the countries we source from. It is a devastating situation. In many 3rd World countries there is no proper working social security system which causes people to live far below the poverty line.

To support our partners in need we have set up an Aid Through Trade promotion since the outbreak of the pandemic. Through the promotion of our social gifts we are able to raise money to donate food to people in need. We don't do this alone but together with our resellers and donors.

Via the Aid Through Trade promotion we have raised over 10.000 KGS of rice for artisans in need in Bangladesh. The Aid Through Trade promotions are a fixed part of our promotion program.

GLASSWARE UPCYCLED WINE BOTTLES WITH A MISSION

- ☐ UPCYCLED WINE BOTTLES
- ☐ IMPROVES WASTE REDUCTION
- ☐ HANDCRAFTED
- ☐ FAIR TRADE CERTIFIED

The glass gift items support in cleaning beaches and the ocean around the amazing tourist destination Zanzibar in Tanzania. This beautiful island is heaven on earth but is very poor and lacks a solid waste recycling program. Waste from the tourist industry often ends up in the sea or as landfill. The WFTO fair trade certified workshop collects wine bottles from hotels, restaurants and bars before they end up as litter. They sort, clean and expertly cut them into different glasses, vases and carafes and by doing so give waste a second life.

Hello,
We are glasses upcycled from empty wine bottles, a waste product from Zanzibar's (Tanzania) tourism industry.
We are handmade in a small village and proud to be eco design. We support a guaranteed fair trade project for marginalized people. They earn fair wages, learn a craft and are trained in different life skills. On top of that they contribute to a very important waste reduction program on this beautiful but poor island.
I may not be 100% perfect but I am 100%
original. Just like you!

The kitchen gifts are made from materials that are considered as waste and support job opportunities in the rural areas of Bangladesh and Indonesia. The cutting board is made from discarded roots of a teak tree. The roots are collected, cleaned and traditionally handcrafted into different pieces of kitchenware and are food safe treated with non-toxic, natural oils.

The aprons are made from yarn that is from discarded fabrics from the textile industry. The aprons are handwoven by a fair trade handloom workshop in Bangladesh.

Set your table with nice table linen and your food will taste twice as nice. Thick Khadi table linen is handmade from waste cotton and the new table cloths are made from recycled yarn from cutting waste from the textile industry. This special process starts with collecting cutting waste from selected garment factories. Afterwards is sorted on colour, cleaned and processed into fibres. The image features four folded pieces of fabric in different colors: teal, yellow, light blue, and orange. The orange fabric at the bottom has tassels. The background is a light beige color.

PLAIDS AND APRONS FROM RECYLED FABRICS

The new plaids and aprons are made from waste fabrics from selected garment manufacturers in Bangladesh. The yarn is made from cutting waste that is sorted on colour, cleaned and processed into fibres. These fibres are machine spun into recycled cotton yarn without the use of water, chemicals or other dyes. This recycled yarn is handwoven into plaids and aprons on a traditional loom by skilled crafts (wo)men who are supported with fair wages and good working conditions. They may not be perfect but are 100% original. Just like you!

Every piece of furniture has an uniqueness. It is made from wood from old wooden houses, barns, boats and trucks or from branches which guarantees that not one bench or stool is the same. The wood keeps its authentic look and feel and can contain holes, nails, screws or bolts along with other imperfections. Combined with natural fibres like banana leaf, cotton or seagrass it creates a natural organic atmosphere in a room.
