SUSTAINABLE LAMPSHADES

from plant fibres
– eco friendly
produced

All originalhome lampshades are made with the smallest footprint on the earth in mind. Their organic designs are entirely handmade from specially selected sustainable plant fibres. The low impact production process combined with people friendly trade make them the better alternative to decorate a home, office, or any other spaces. The wide collection offers a variety of models to fit any interior style. The organic lampshades can be used as a statement piece in a room or light up a hidden corner.

- Made from sustainable plant fibres
- Handcrafted
- Organic design
- Ethically sourced
- Supports local communities

RATTAN LAMP SHADES

The rattan lampshades convince through their clean and organic design. They represent a great blend of texture and contemporary shapes. Rattan lampshades combine well in a Scandinavian, Boho, Bali chic or any modern interior style.

Materials & Production

Rattan is a strong natural fiber. It grows abundantly and naturally without any fertilizers or pesticides and improves biodiversity by co-existing with other vegetation. Only the lianas of the rattan are used to make the lamps so the tree is not cut and can be harvested for several decades without harming the environment around it. The entire production process, from harvesting to designing is executed by hand.

The makers

Wawan and Navi used to sell their homemade lampshades from a small shop on Bali, Indonesia. Since we started working together their workshop has moved to East Java, Indonesia, where they have created jobs for at least 20 weavers from neighbouring villages. They participate in the originalhome sustainable entrepreneur development program.

ABACA LAMP SHADES

Abaca lampshades are perfect to achieve a more organic look & feel in an interior. The leafy materials add texture to the lampshade and combined with the handmade organic shapes they bring nature home.

Materials & Production

Abaca is a strong natural fiber that is derived from the bark of a banana tree from small banana plantations of Java, Indonesia. Abaca is a waste product from the banana plantations. A banana tree matures in 9 months, making it a quickly renewable resource. Because it only produces its fruits once, the trees are cut after one year to regrow. The bark is stripped and this material is given a second life by weaving lampshades and baskets out of it. The entire production process is executed by hand.

The makers

Johni & Lola are sustainable pioneers from origin. They founded their company in 1995 and out of respect for the natural resources of Java. They solely use natural, sustainable raw materials for the production of home decoration and use all materials as efficiently as possible. As true pioneers, they developed multiple ways to recycle and apply new materials such as newspapers and old cement bag paper. Currently, 30 people are working for them from different workshop locations in Java, Indonesia.

RECLAIMED TEAK LAMPSHADES

The lampshades made from reclaimed teak are durable and can last a lifetime. The clean yet organic design adds a natural earthy look & feel to any style interior. Due to the natural and organic drawings in the wood, every lampshade is unique.

Materials & Production

The raw material that is used for the wooden lampshades comes from the root of a teak tree: a waste product from the teak plantations in Java, Indonesia. Teak root is discarded wood and must be unearthed for new plantings. The roots are collected, cleaned and traditionally handcrafted into lampshades by local villagers. Teak root wood is very durable and sustainable. It will last a lifetime.

The makers

The teakroot lampshades are designed and packed in a small design workshop in Indonesia. The workshop was founded to repurpose waste wood and to support local communities by creating job opportunities. The wood-crafting workshop is based in East Java, Indonesia and provides jobs for marginalized people; teaching them a craft and providing structure and income.

TECHNICAL SHEET

Electricals

Electricals are not included.

Indoor/Outdoor

Originalhome lampshades are suitable for both indoor and outdoor use. However, to lengthen the lifetime of our products it is recommended to protect from heat, rain, and snow. Natural fibres may also be affected by humidity, therefore we recommend avoiding use in bathrooms.

Certifications

We source our products with the best interest for the planet, people and animals in mind. All products are PETA-approved vegan and carry originalhome trade certification. Lampshades from abaca are BSCI certificated and items from reclaimed teak are certified with V-Legal Wood.

Care instructions

The lampshades are made from natural leaf fibres. These materials are simply sundried and may contain colour variation and or stains caused by natural elements. Although the material as a whole is strong, the individual leaves can be delicate. Please handle with care. When stained, clean gently with a cloth and a very mild detergent. Do not rub to avoid colour difference and damage to the product.

How to fix damages

Damaged spots on black lampshades? You can easily touch them up with a black marker or some water based black bio paint.

Custom made orders

Custom made orders are possible for larger quantities. For more information please contact customers@originalhome.nl.

ORIGINS

originalhome

Our earth has suffered enough from what we have taken. It is time to give back and do it right. We put planet and people before profit by minimizing our footprint on the planet and maximising our impact on people.

Our origins:

- Earth Friendly Materials
- Environmentally Friendly Production
- People Friendly Trade
- Giving Back 20% of our profits

Currently 25% of the collection is made from sustainable plant fibres and 75% is made from waste materials.

Quickly Renewable

PLANT FIBRES

The lampshades are made from 100% natural and quickly renewable plant materials.

Quickly renewable plant fibres like water hyacinth, seagrass, unbleached jute, and abaca are sustainable, have a low impact on the environment and do not harm the eco system.

The materials are harvested by hand from local community plantations and are not grown on an industrial scale.

- Limited or no pesticides and fertilizers are used to grow these plants
- These plants grow very quickly (jute matures in 4.5 months vs 20 years for a teak tree)
- No uprooting necessary (regenerates on its own)
- High capacity of CO2 absorption and/or other toxins
- Non industrialised materials sourcing process
